

Wildfire Prevention

Experts say that although people realize the dangers posed by wildfires and other natural forces, they often don't do all that is necessary to keep themselves and their possessions safe. A recent survey by the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Project Impact found that 86 percent of homeowners thought their